

Jeremy Hill

Allow me to make an introduction I believe worthwhile.

Jeremy is a recognized expert in the private debt industry. Since founding JB Capital in 2003, the company has become a reference for capital placement and advisory services in the US and Canadian lower middle markets. Under his leadership, JB Capital has raised and advised on approximately $1 billion in capital for growth companies across the industry spectrum. He has been a featured guest contributor on CNBC, Bloomberg and provides ongoing financial advice and board leadership to several well-known growth companies.

JB Capital is an alternative credit manager investing in areas of the market underserved by traditional banks and larger asset managers. They provide investors with direct access to quality, privately originated credits that deliver consistent monthly income with institutional underwriting and transparent reporting.
